THE Latest BUZZ (as of September 04 2023 1200 PM)

(a Short Take On Present Buzz) by Mick Burton, Buzz Editor

YES! Now # 111 In case you are a new reader, the Issue number is off by one always, since # 0 was outset of this lark. That clarified or muddied, let's get to some actual important business!

“Make Room! Make Room! Now Tri-City 15 is potentially getting BIGGER!”

In view here are four different subjects that I have shot inside of the last two years. Three of them were at contests in fact. Were the fourth (the yellow M4) to have been entered at any of those three shows or, currently in future R-9 or R-8 shows, it too like the others, would be competing with 1/35th scale items. Considering they are all significantly larger (1/25, 1/8, 1/16) it definitely be a skewed situation for the Judges, very likely to not encourage a return engage by someone, no matter how things rolled out, agree?

Encouraged to consider this matter seriously recently, by an active member of our community, as TC-15 Contest Director I have gone ahead and decided to open up a new category for Armor, All Types, 1/25 & larger for this November's show. —mb

QUITE SIMPLE – “ THE 109 CONTEST ”

Here are four different examples of absolute qualifier right off the bat (Me-109, M-109, F-109, PT-109) to start you thinking Consider that ANYTHING in the family of the Messerschmitt 109 including the 209, 309 variants also eligible, same case for the SP Howitzer. Don't forget the JAAF had a wicked twin engine, the Mitsubishi Ki-109. Next, ships, aircraft, armor, autos with "109" as a ID number.

*Have fun
using your imagination*

AUGUST 2023 NEST, Our TWELFTH Straight Win Assembling For Meet at Al's Shop

The President, having managed to miss going to the IPMS USA Nationals in San Marcos, had been anticipating this month's AUGUST Free Hornets Meeting for a fresh from the front run down from some fellow Hornets. Alas, Life said No Way, Mickay Well it wasn't a complete shutout, happily Gabriel Lee got to the Nest to give some first hand accounts, and RC Chris had us a good background on something that blew up there.

So, some of these shots actually do illustrate us all in mid fiery discussion over issues which have had IPMS USA in turmoil time and again regarding as usual, Judging, Judgement, how to conduct (or not, leaving us a mess) discipline when things go awry. All of this in play this time. Catalysed by extremely poorly handled, singular situation, given the full firestorm effort on the social media. Thanks Louis for helping getting us back on to Model Talk, giving me the finger.

Oh alright, that last part a bit of artistic license. I took the picture as you see above. Clearly Louis is NOT using a rude finger gesture, he was trying to politely get his question answered from the other end of table (mine). We did get talking Models...

Say hello to first time visitor (and now Member in Good Standing) Norm, who showed up thanks to VP Dave Parks.

Norm brought this diorama model of his in a case, which he graciously took the acrylic cover off so we could get a finer close look at his grand work.

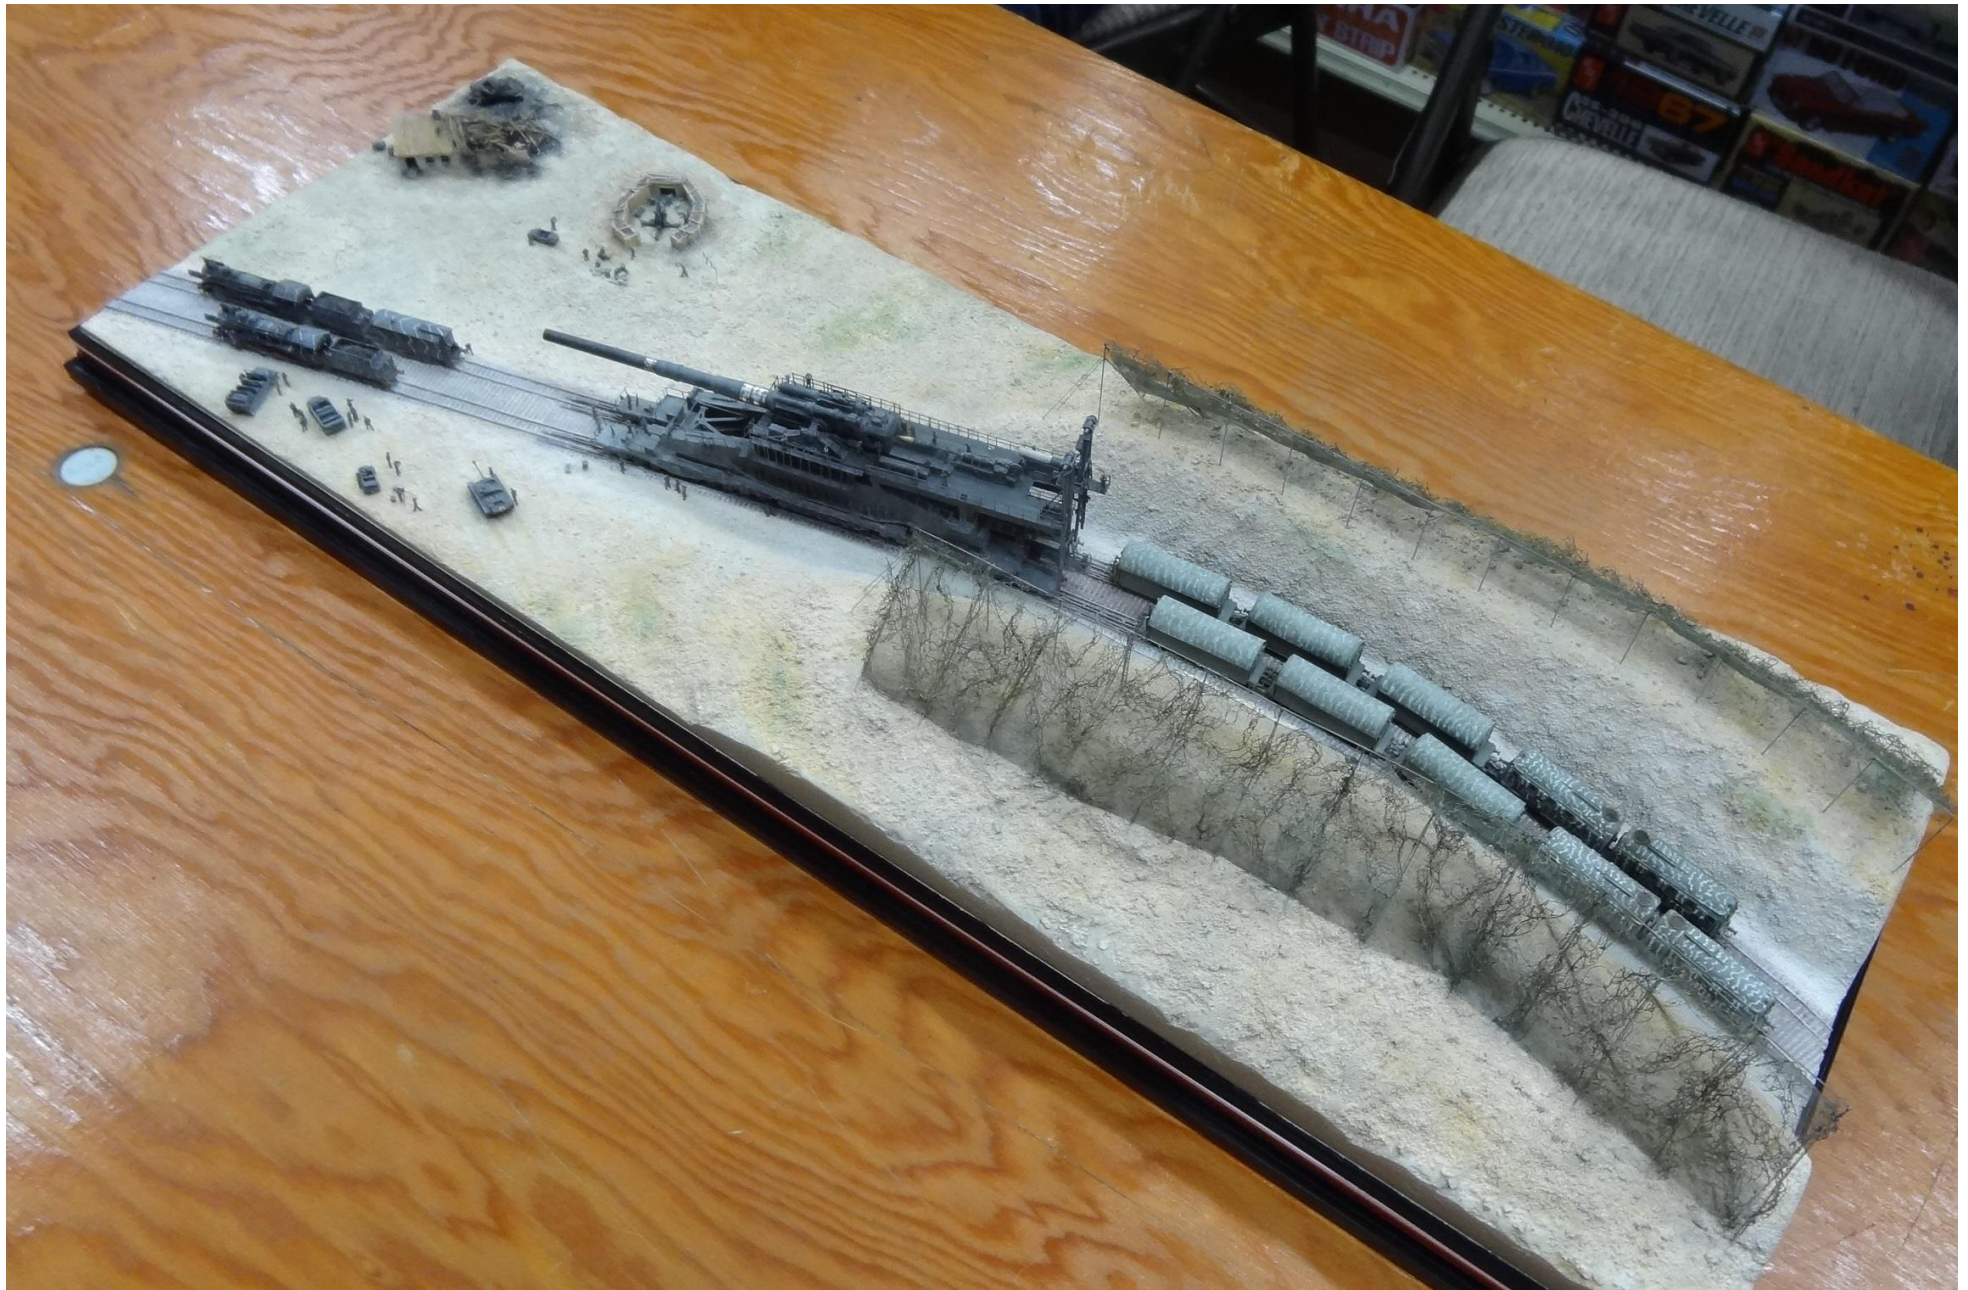

What I hope to convey somewhat, pictures aren't nearly as good as being there, is the incredible run of living detail.

Norm's work is based on photos he had, this famed "Gustav" German 80 cm long range cannon Gustav was a nickname, as Krupp 80 cm Kanone (E) Schwerer Gustav being its formal titling.

Even in 1/350th scale, quite a big artillery piece !

This overhead reconnaissance shot at low level ought to do trick, this is pretty much the logistical truth of “Gustav” in a look.

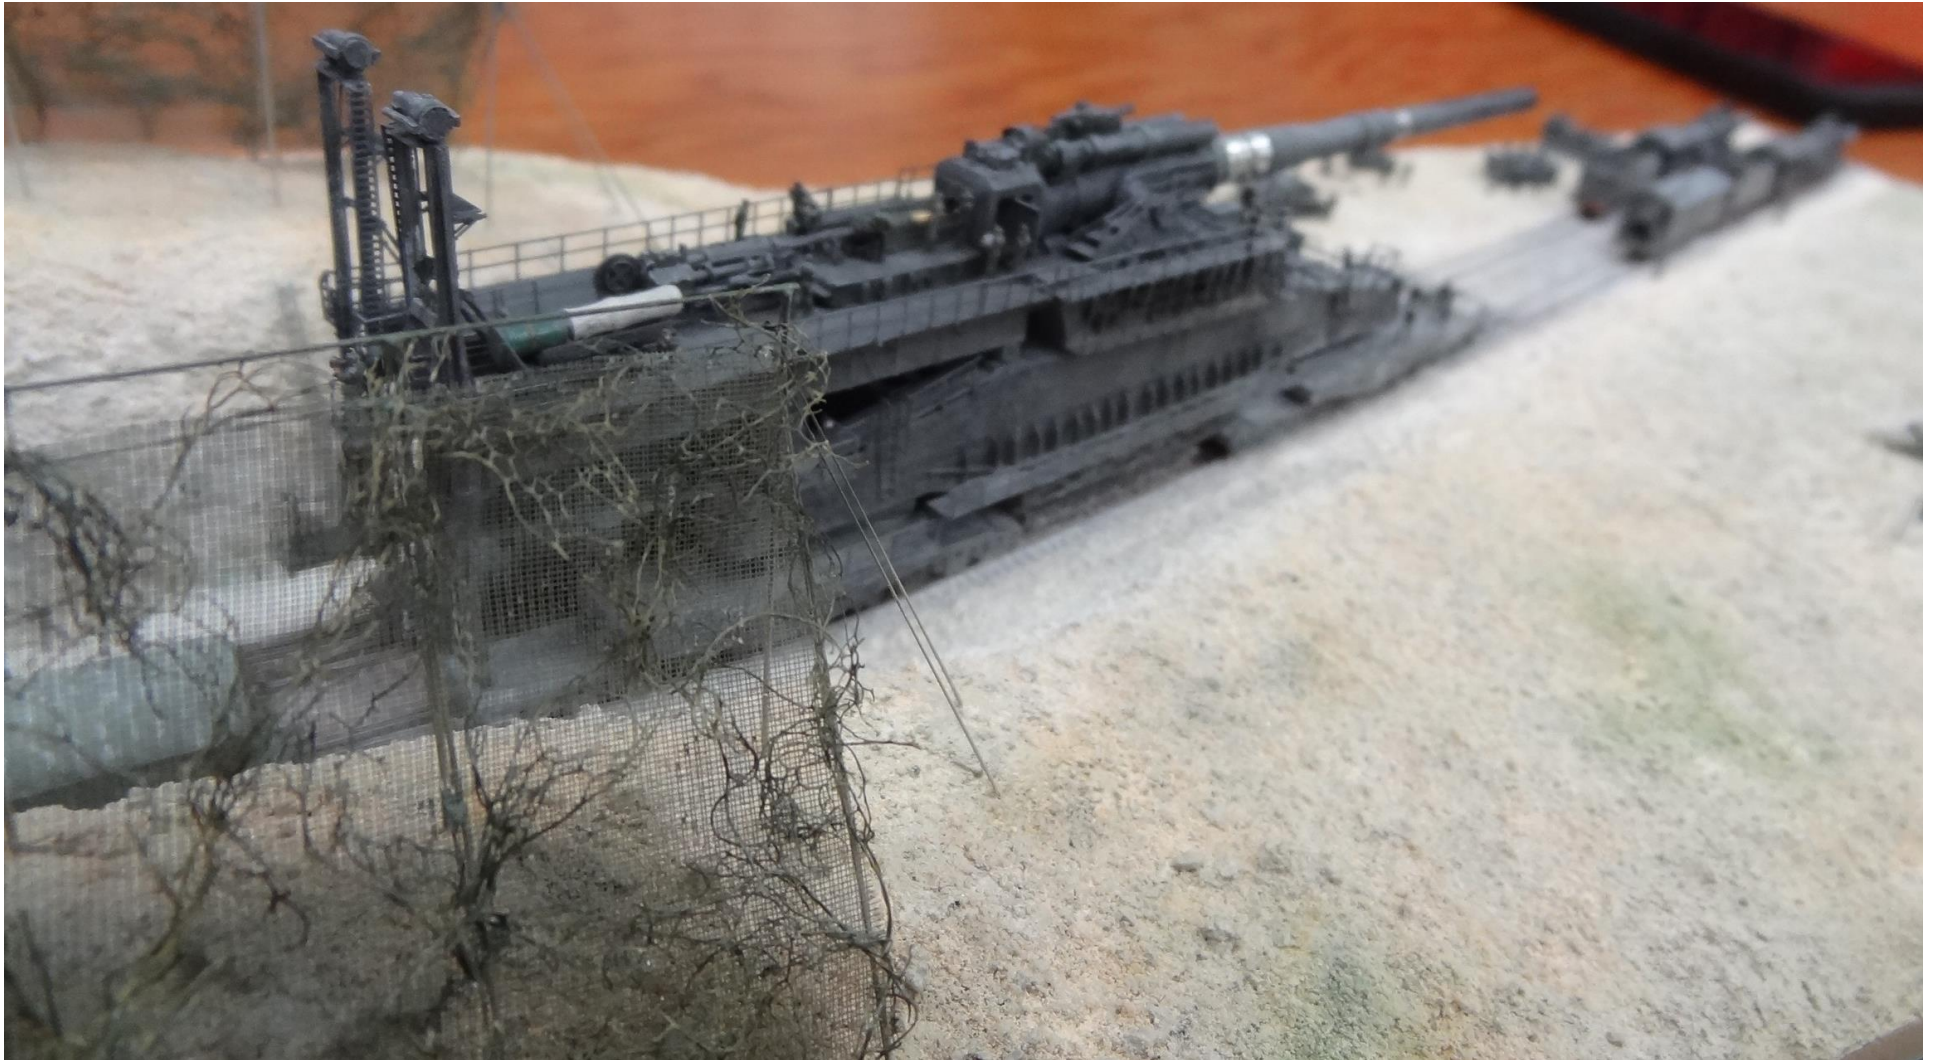

That track not only had to be laid out just so, it also had to be canted at an angle of 15 degrees to allow proper aiming. Norm's skilled work helps impart just how effective the seemingly simplest techniques of camouflage could be. The largest rifled gun to see combat service, this monster more or less proved the maxim : "bigger is always better" to be not always true. Cool diorama!

Statistics make this artillery piece at first sound mighty fearsome: 30 inch diameter shells, a seven ton Armor Piercing version and 5 ton High Explosive brother, along with a concrete piercing variety and some others, with a maximum range of 43 km for any of them. Now, consider you only get to shoot maximum 14 rounds per day, the barrel wore out after 300 shots, (the original gun shot 220+ in testing, so initial combat deployment required barrel changeout after only 44 more rounds fired... Then there's the pesky requirement of 3 days to set up gun with your 250 man crew, the 2500 man crew to put the trackways and embank...

Not to overlook the fact that this be hard to miss as an aerial attack target. But for a propaganda weapon , oh surely, priceless. This first gun for the Wermacht was free, a Krupp tradition. Second one, "Dora" , cost equivalent of over 24million US today.

Next up was a quad of subjects close to the heart of the President/Editor, a lively bunch of Smilodon Californicus (okay, it could be they were S. fatalis, or another subspecies) brought in by Chris Bucholtz. Along with a crowd of figures, a sign.

These SaberToothed Cats roamed Florida in abundance, but they are better known for their association with La Brea Tar Pits of Southern California, possibly due to the paintings of Charles S. Knight which look almost like 2D dioramas of prehistory !

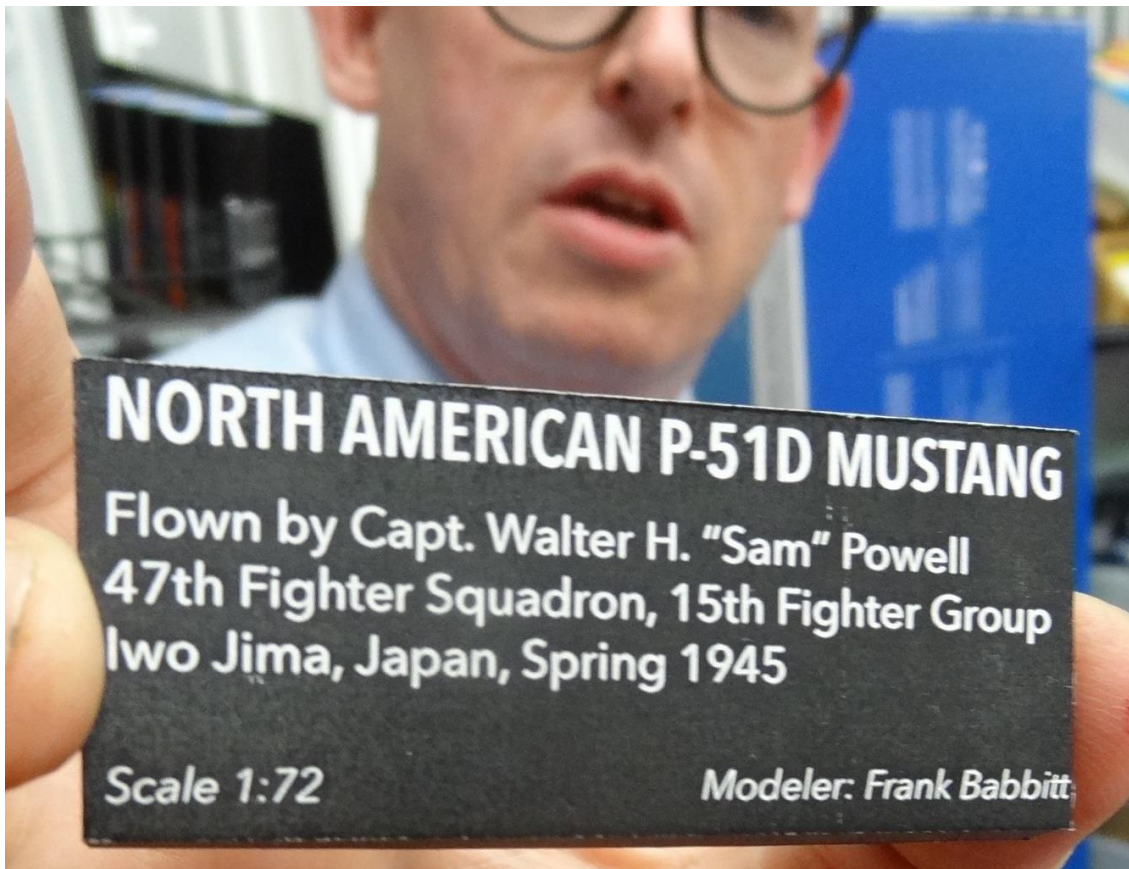

Interesting creatures, the Smilodon family. Researchers have produced enough evidence over the last few decades to pretty well establish these cats to have been social, communal animals. Several cases of skulls with one or both Saber teeth broken, yet the individuals survived to have visible healing. Almost certainly due to other “tribe members” making sure they were fed, and not left to die as prey or starvation. Also, consider how they are basically in size  $\frac{3}{4}$  scale African Lions. Contrast to American Lion of same prehistoric period /locale, was essentially a  $1\frac{1}{4}$  to  $1\frac{1}{3}$  bigger version of those African Lions we know these days.

Best I can recall, Chris explained he obtained these splendid resin castings due a fellow modeler who has a subscription service which entails receipt of four models per month ! Prehistoric subjects in model form have been quite a growth market of late 😊

While Chris's model figures seemed to be somewhat alarming that he intends to drop this sign on three of them below, there's a benign story here.

This is an adaptation of something Chris had seen in use several years now by the group who stages the fabulous Seattle Museum of Flight model gig.

These signages are used by them for the many of their model displays put on for 2 days running in February, they are akin to the display signage for the full size aircraft in museum, and imparts to the viewer in a familiar manner, critical information.

The day after our August Nest, Chris would be at the helm for a "Keep the Spirit of '45 Alive" show being held in History Park, San Jose, with a table.

Joining him would be Frank Babbitt, and to help with the aircraft models on display, these signs.

Lastly, here a quick look at the latest set of 1/72nd scale figures for use with his aircraft displays.

Mike Jimenez followed up his recent success with fictional saucer like war craft, only this one is not extraterrestrial. This is the Pegasus Models 1/144 scale “Hanebu II Saucer”. Not surprisingly, my research confirms there’s been more actual kits made by different folks over the years of this than that of an actual “flying saucer”, of which the two prototypes still exist to measure. Yes, that on the left, the Avro (Of Canada) VZ-9, a Cold War Classic. But Luft ’46 still holds sway.

Although this was never proven to have existed, it was credited to being constructed by Dornier, which I am sure Claude liked.

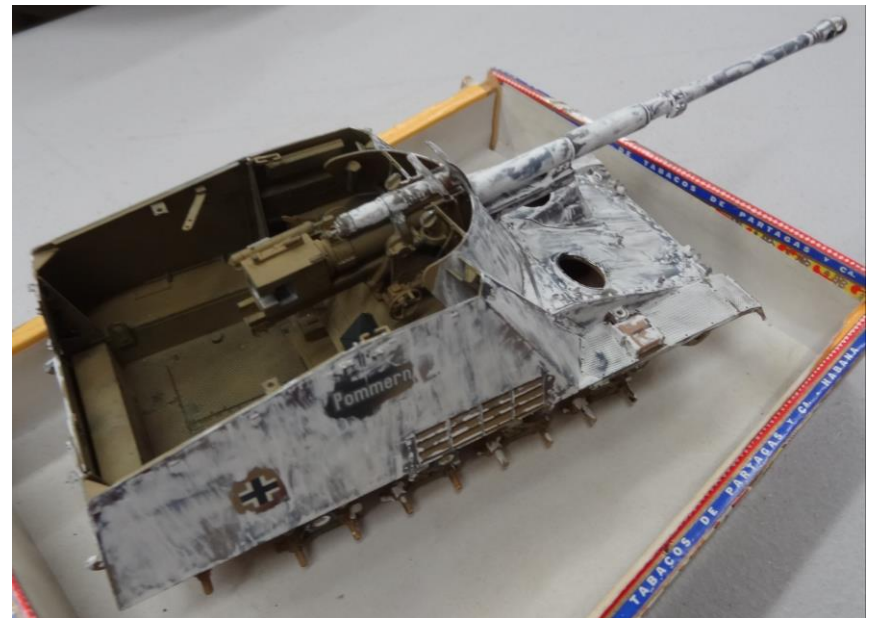

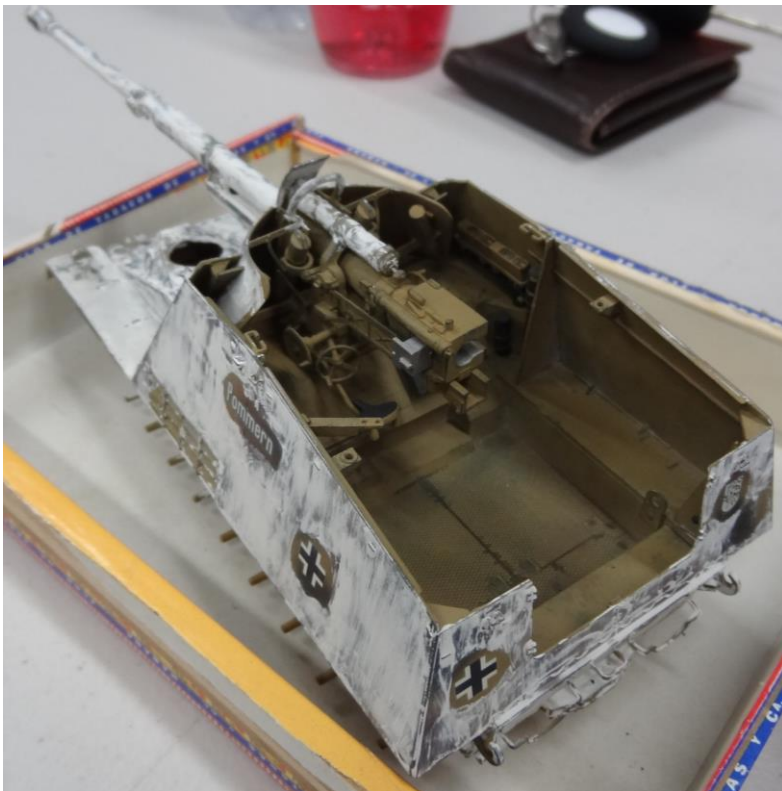

Dave Parks had his well rendered Czech Hetzer 38t on a picture frame base.

Alan O'Neal has a Tamiya 1/35th WW2 German Nashorn which he is trying out a winterizing technique from the February 2003 issue of mag FineScale Modeler. Looking great, but Alan says, not recommended as a method from his experience so far. Great cigar box by the way, Alan.

Kyle Larson brought two subjects with a huge distance in time and space, both of course well done.

First up was his Tamiya 1/35 scale King Tiger, which he finished in this tri color Ardennes scheme.

Then, on a completely different note, Kyle's 1/1000 Star Trek Enterprise NCC-1701

Frank Babbitt shared his now completed pair from Argentine Falklands War period, plus two WW2 gems. The Mirage and Etendard in 1/48th, Air Force for the Mirage, Navy for Etendard.

The P-51D is for the upcoming Spirit of '45 display that Chris made the signage for him for. The WIP FW-190D, Frank has said the MiG Ammo paints were a nice new experience for him on

Gabriel Lee has almost completed his latest 1/72 Hornet, the Spanish F-18C in grey to accompany his recently done F-18A in the Spanish AF service with the USN Aggressor camouflage scheme. Coincidentally, the base for his Hornet is a box for craft that would be perfect scale match to Kyle's Enterprise. "Ships passing in the night, eh?" . Okay, that's the August Meet in short

“Nifty November Nonsense”

On the left, one part of what inspired this contest, at the July Free Hornets meeting. It’s painted in Testors # 1842M “Purple-Licious” A lively discussion there caused the President (and Sponsor of this Contest) to arrive at conclusion for crafting this. Very simple entry parameters: Use ANY model subject, kit based or otherwise, to start. As easy as that, next part just as uncomplicated. Make sure you use ONE or MORE of the Testors One Coat Lacquer line products as I have shown here for reference, on your potential entry. Go crazy or mild, simple (Wet Look Clear for gloss finish agent or well applied single color on say, an auto) or complex (use your imagination) CASH PRIZES, event is held on 11-10-23

TRI-CITY CLASSIC XV Scale Model Contest and Exhibition
REFERENCE DATA & SPECIAL AWARD PROMO #3
FOR

“Dr. Strangelove”

SYNOPSIS: Where I try to explain how Theme of Award ties in (or not) with overall Contest Theme. Our TriCity Classic has a fairly long run tradition, theme being combine of a known movie linked directly to specific geography. Choosing “Dr. Strangelove” actually feels timely, as old as it is. The movie is fairly well known, the geography really fits neatly within it. Breaking down in three main parts, US, UK, USSR, setting in middle of the Cold War, that ran from 1948 to 1991.

Taking into consideration also theme of simply “The Cold War” was offered twice in our region in recent years, possibly give another chance to whom may have finished too late for entry then with this specific theme. With our own unique take and blending in some old favorites of ours. On to Promotion! Of course ANY and ALL MODEL SUBJECTS are encouraged, welcomed to enter. Contest Theme is a way to have some fun, give an overall tone for the show from one year to the next. So, PLEASE FEEL FREE to ignore it entirely or plunge headlong into the fray, as you see fit. Just see fit to enter show and enjoy is all the Contest Director here wishes for.

Whereupon simply here stated, current list of the TC-15 Special Awards. Now here and in future issues, details for each. The Red highlighted Specials are considered fairly self explanatory and likely won't be part of upcoming essay series. Highlights in Blue will be the subject of this article, and Green will be used to indicate a past issue coverage.

SA 17 Award for “ Best Women In Aerospace ”

BASICS for SA17 Award QUALIFY:

Women have been in aviation since before fixed wing powered flight, and in roles besides time honored left seat of command or at helm of a fighter plane. History bears this out time and again, with only a slight effort of research these days you can discern many a way to come up with interesting entries that would qualify for this award. While Amelia Earhart carries the day in popular media even today in the USA, Bessie Coleman, Florence “Pancho” Barnes, and the gift that keeps on giving; one and only Jacqueline Cochran for three historic individuals for another take on Americans. A quick reminder that it wasn’t a propaganda exercise but a well recorded and regarded truth that during WW2, “the Night Witches” among others were a solid contributor to the war against Germany in the Soviet Union, along with a young legend named Lydia Litvyak. The first woman in space was a cosmonaut named Valentina Tereshkova, she still holds the record for youngest female in space (age 26) and longest solo space flight by a woman. A TINY glimpse of some of the ways one could approach this for a competitive entry. Look into Rogallo wing, Mercury 13, the 99s for other starts...

So think in terms of Figures, Busts, Vehicles, Dioramas for good bets.

With more good fun ahead in Early October , Thanks Doug & Crew
