From Anthony's first three aircraft he called "Die Spin" (Spider) to the far more well known "Fokker Scourges" (Eindecker series) of First World War, followed up with huge success post war with three motor machines, hard to NOT find a suitable subject to compete here. Fokker came up with fierce but found to be too late answers when the next World War called at his second homeland's door. Following in his fabulous footsteps, the company that bears his name has many lovely designs flying through the years to today. Consider this award a symbolic simple recognition of a truly gifted soul taken too soon
