About Us

CFMC members in attendance at the IPMS Fremont Hornets Tri City Classic Model Contest 11/8/2025.

Greetings Reader! If you are unfamiliar with us, we are Char's Fantasy Model Club (CFMC), a group of model building enthusiasts that enjoy hanging out and building together. Named after a well-known antagonist of the Gundam Universal Century anime series, we are a very diverse group that namely enjoys building science fiction models including Gundam, Warhammer 40K, 30 Minute Missions, Transformers, Star Wars, Dragon Ball Z models and more! We have members ranging from being new to the hobby to members who have been building for over 20 years. We welcome all model builders to join us on Discord, follow us on Instagram, build with us at our monthly build meetings, and participate in our club events!

Meetup Location

GiftsToysCollectables (GTC) Store
Address: 18 S 8th St San Jose CA 95112.
Build meetups the last Saturday each month 1pm-4pm.

Club History

Inspiration

We cannot discuss our club history without first going back to the original source of inspiration. For years prior to this group's development, Club President Aaron and Mark have been active members of local bay area International Plastic Model Society (IPMS) chapters. Aaron and Mark found both the IPMS Silicon Valley Scale Modelers and IPMS Fremont Hornets chapters to be full of very welcoming and friendly builders who were well organized. For years, Aaron attended these meetings watching and learning how successful model clubs worked. Both Aaron and Mark remain active members of the IPMS chapters to this day.

It was in 2018 when Aaron and his brother Adam began discussing the idea of creating their own group and finding other builders. Aaron even came up with the name "Char's Fantasy Model Club" at this time. It was still nothing more than an idea at this point, given there was no meetup location and they didn't know many other builders. They only intended to have 4 or 5 members and never imagined it growing far beyond that. In 2019, Aaron, Adam, and Ben W all visited the Newtype Warehouse store for the first time. They began to consider holding build meetings there. Then the covid 19 pandemic happened and the idea of "Char's Fantasy Model Club" looked to be dead on arrival.

Early Days.

By 2023, the pandemic was winding down and model building, and Gundam and Warhammer 40k in particular, had become more popular than ever. It was clear that model building was not as niche as it used to be.

It was current club Vice President Adam who was able to bring the group together. With one simple act, he lit the spark that would form this club. He simply brought a couple of his builds to his desk at work and several of his colleagues including James (@jaymurs) and Zach (@Mr.bubbl3s) took notice. It turned out they were also into building and wanted to hang out, build together and learn more. Together, Aaron, Adam, Ben W, James, and Zach officially formed Char's Fantasy Model Club in May 2023.

Early build meetings were held at GameKastle Santa Clara. The club's first model contest, the Gundam Diorama Contest, was held at Gamekastle and hosted by Zach. In June 2023, Ben W, Aaron, and Adam went to the Santa Clara Toy Convention together and met Emilio, who had a booth for his new store GTC (Gifts Toys Collectables). The store was preexisting online and had just established its location in downtown San Jose. It didn't take long for everyone to fall in love with the shop. Emilio created a great atmosphere and began selling everything a model builder could ever need. Additionally, the shop had tables where members can build and televisions to watch their favorite shows. It was the perfect place to meet up.

The group officially moved meetups to GTC in August 2023. It was a great success. Club members promoted the shop to other builders including the IPMS chapters and steadily the number of GTC customers and club members increased. Aaron created a club flier with a QR code to join the discord and Emilio promoted the club to new customers. By November 2023, the club hosted the first of many model contests at GTC; with the "Chamuro Gunpla Contest" hosted by Aaron.

Rapid Growth and Development.

Throughout 2024 and 2025 the club experienced massive growth in membership. By the end of 2025 there were over 150 discord members and roughly 20 active members. The club hosted an array of types of events including Anime Anniversary Celebrations, Model Contests, Parts Trade Days, Gundam Tabletop Game Meetups, and more. In November 2025, during the annual Events Voting Day, the club reorganized, holding its first ever elections. Aaron (@A-ARON), was voted President,

Adam (@Risenpimp) was voted Vice President, Scott (@TheBeard) was voted Treasurer, and Matt (@Godzillnot) was voted Photographer.

The Present

With the newfound level of organization, we aim to have even better events moving forward. We now work as a team better than we ever had. Many new members have stepped up and organized events and provided excellent ideas on how to improve the club. In addition, we have officially made our first attempts at fundraising as well and look forward to becoming even more well organized and hosting bigger and better events in the future and having lots of fun along the way.

CFMC Parts Trade Day and Auction Fundraiser

Saturday 8/8/2026 at GTC Store San Jose CA

Parts Trade Day organized by Andrew (@strix)

Auction Fundraiser organized by CFMC President Aaron (@A-ARON)

CFMC Members in attendance: Aaron (@A-ARON), Adam (@Risen Pimp), Andrew (@Strix), Brayan (@lind), Brian (@pidgeons), Danny, James (@james-rogernadal), Jaz (@jazsquatch), Johnathan (@johnno), Jose (@jose-ibocollector), Jun (@intro), Junior(@oddwarrior), Justin (@Pkmonger2), Leander (@LeanderF), Lee (@leeli), Lisa (@flamecrow), Lok (@fatseal0n9), Lucas (@ender), Matt (@mrtitans), Nicholas (@bluebraixen), and Scott (@thebeard),

Our Parts Trade Day had a great turnout. Over 20 CFMC members were in attendance. We also had special guest Mick Burton, the IPMS (International Plastic Modler's Society) Editor for our local chapters; the Fremont Hornets and SVSM (Silicon Valley Scale Modelers). He and Aaron made a special announcement that they have teamed up to host a special Fantasy Model Showcase event on April 10th, 2027 at the San Jose Elks Lodge (see flier on pg. 38).

Left: models that were donated for auction.

Right: Entry Grade 1/144 Nu Gundam by special Guest IPMS Fremont Hornets and IPMS SVSM Editor Mick Burton.

We also hosted our second model auction that day. This one was even better than the first one we held back in January. There were more donations from more people and more buyers. The fast-paced bidding wars were fun and exciting for participants. People got some fantastic deals on great kits. Every model sold and we raised over $900 at this auction. We would like to thank everyone for their donations and participation in this auction!

People had a great time and between the auction and other small fundraisers, we made over $1,000 that day! We hope to see you at the next auction fundraiser on Jan 16th 2027 (see pg 38)!

Special Thanks to Mick Burton

We wanted to give a special shoutout to longtime IPMS Fremont Hornets and SVSM Chief Editor Mick Burton! He should look familiar to many of you. He has been organizing the IPMS Tri City Classic Model Show in Fremont for years and is a staunch supporter of the CFMC who has attended multiple CFMC events including our more recent Model Auction Fundraiser and Gundam Tabletop Game Workshop.

Mick Builds a wide range of models including Aircraft, Tanks, Cars, and Dinosaurs, and has recently finished his first Gundam kit (1/144 Entry Grade Nu Gundam see pg 6). Mick has been a major asset and difference maker in the model community for decades. Many CFMC events and meetups were inspired by ideas he and other IPMS members have done.

We are happy to announce that he and Aaron are teaming up to host the Fantasy/Sci-Fi Model Showcase (FASMS) event at the San Jose Elks Lodge on April 10th 2027 (see pg 38 for details)! By square footage, this event will be the largest Fantasy/Sci-Fi Model showcase in Bay Area history!

Thank you Mick for all your vast contributions to the scale model community and for all your support and encouragement! We look forward to meeting you at your IPMS Tri City Classic on November 14th! Speaking of which.....

Upcoming Event: IPMS Tri City Classic Contest

Saturday, November 14th at the Fremont Elks Lodge Fremont CA,

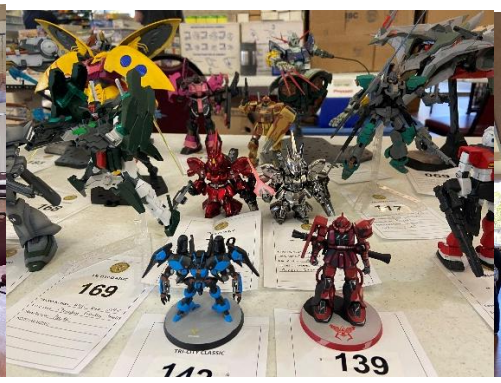

CFMC members in attendance at the IPMS Fremont Hornets Tri City Classic Model Contest 11/8/2025.

At long last, the wait for the IPMS Tri City Classic Contest is almost over! With an average of 330 entries and over 100 participants, this is by far the largest scale model event in the bay area. This event, organized by our friend Mick Burton, includes over 60 model categories, model vendors, and a huge raffle! We are happy to say that the fantasy and sci fi categories have shown major growth over the last few years with more participants and categories.

Last year, we had a great time with a whopping 16 CFMC members in attendance with 10 CFMC members winning and made up over 10% of the total entries. There were over 40 Gundam entries last year! The miniatures (Wargaming) category also showed huge growth last year.

We highly encourage members to attend and enter the contest! For those who have not gone we highly recommend it. It is a lot of fun and a great chance to meet other builders. We will have our own table outside for members to hang out at.

For more information, please see the flier on page 37. For members who attend, please wear your CFMC hats, shirts, hoodies etc for a group photo. Feel free to reach out to Aaron (@A-ARON) for questions! We look forward to seeing you there!

Link N' Build Model Club

We were pleasantly surprised to run into the Link N' Build Model Club at GTC on Saturday September 5th at our Gundam Tabletop Game Character Creation Workshop! Aaron and Adam previously met 2 of their members back in May at the IPMS Fresno Contest. This group is from Daly City, CA and started meeting earlier this year. They are a very friendly group of enthusiastic builders and also supported the CFMC by purchasing some of our fundraisers!

The Link N' Build members are in our discord server (@stray, @SteveH, @Toonsis, and @Ephine smalls). In August, they traveled and participated in the San Joaquin Valley Modelers' Modesto Model Contest; winning 1st, 2nd, and 3rd in the Gundam category with their very impressive builds! We look forward to meeting them again at the IPMS Tri City Classic Contest in Fremont on Saturday, November 14th (see pg 37) and hope to see them at CFMC events someday!

Quarterly Showcase Build

Misa the Samurai Miniature

(Guards of Atlantis 2) (painted) by DJ (@Shaqiavelli)

(1st Place: CFMC Fantasy Model Contest Advanced Category 8-22-2026)

For the Fantasy Contest hosted by CFMC, I chose to paint Misa the Samurai, from the boardgame Guards of Atlantis 2, designed by Artyom Nichipurov and published by Wolff Designa. Guards of Atlantis 2 is a deterministic team-based game inspired by MOBA games such as League of Legends or Dota 2. The player characters are represented by beautifully detailed miniatures, and I've been wanting to paint them for a while.

This figure was monopose and did not require any assembly. However, there were still the typical manufacturing defects to take care of, such as mouldlines, gap-filling, and sanding. This was to ensure there were no noticeable gaps, and that I had a sanded surface for the paint to adhere more easily to. Once I finished prepping the figure, I primed using my airbrush. My go-to primer these days is Gaianotes Black Primer. It's a lacquer primer that adheres smoothly, is insanely durable, and cures quickly. A word of warning: lacquers are toxic so they should only be applied while using a respirator and spray booth. The next step was what is commonly known as "zenithal priming." Zenithal priming consists of spraying a lighter color, such as grey or white, from a higher angle to simulate the placement of light. I did that with this figure, so I could immediately tell where I would need to put the highlights and shadows.

With the figure primed, I started blocking in the base colors. Ordinarily, I paint the inward facing portions of a model, then make my way outward. Here, however, I started with all the gold trim. That is because I did not want to go back and correct the non metallic areas if they happened to get gold paint on them. My favorite gold these days is Two Thin Coat's Dragon's Gold. I actually used a lot of Army Painter Speedpaints for the rest of the miniature. These are great, because they are semi-transparent, so they create different tones when applied over the zenithal primed areas. Speedpaints also lend themselves well to wet-blending, which I utilized for the miniature. You can mostly see that on the wings, where I wet blended blues and blacks to create different tones. Using a combination of Speedpaints and traditional paints, I proceeded to block in the leather, skin, armor, and base. I used this moment to shade the gold while using Speedpaints on the purple armor.

To create some visual interest, I drybrushed light blue onto the wings. This was because pure black is rather uninteresting from a visual standpoint. Having a color like blue helps sell the effect and provide contrast. As for the rest of the highlights, I focused on the gold and leather mostly. I glazed in warmer tones for the orange cloth, and colder, bluer tones for the armor. As for the weapons, I initially wanted to paint the katanas with a nonmetallic metal style, but I was running short on time, so I opted to do a traditional metallic silver but with volumetric highlights.

If I could improve one thing on this paintjob, it would be the base. I simply used a khaki color, shaded with a mix of Agrax Earthshade and Seraphim Sepia, then highlighted with bone. I think I could have introduced more orange tones, to match a sandy beach by the ocean. But overall, I'm happy with how the miniature turned out. It took me around 12 hours total, and it was a great opportunity to mix something like Speedpaints with more traditional methods!

This quarter featured multiple record-breaking moments such as the fundraising amount from the August Model Auction and the number of entries in the Fantasy Model Contest. We met some new people at the auction, got to meet the Link N' Build club, and plan out 2027. It was a very eventful and enjoyable 3rd quarter.

The 4th quarter will be packed with exciting events including the San Francisco build meeting on October 24th, Southern California Gundam Contest on Nov 7th (pg 35), IPMS Tri City Classic (pg36), and the Christmas Model Gift Exchange (pg 37). We look forward to ending the year on a high note.

Thanks for reading and we will see you in the next issue!
